

Support our military kids this school year.

VFW NATIONAL HOME

Dear ,

For many kids, the upcoming school year is a time of excitement and anticipation. They're thinking about learning new things, making new friends, and wanting to do well.

For military kids, it can be a stressful time. Some may have a parent struggling with PTSD. Other families could be facing financial instability or housing insecurity. These are just a few challenges the kids at the VFW National Home may experience.

We call military children our "littlest heroes" because of the strength and resilience they continue to show despite the challenges they face.

Will you help these kids start the school year off on the right foot by supporting this year's Back to School Campaign?

By making your gift, you're not just providing financial support. You also offer the extra support many of our kids need to perform at grade level, such as personal tutoring, and all the learning activities and resources provided through our library, computer lab, and science lab.

Through your contribution, you're providing kids with more than school supplies and academic support—you're giving them the gift of a normal childhood.

Please give your best gift to the National Home's Back to School Campaign and make a difference in a child's life.

Thank you for your generosity.

Sue Alverson
Development Director